Emma Marvin joins Laraway Board of Trustees

Emma Marvin has joined Laraway's Board of Trustees. As part of the second generation at Butternut Mountain Farm, she worked her way up learning what it takes to manage her family's business. She presently oversees retail operations, marketing, new business development and "special" projects.

Marvin earned a degree in Natural Resources Management at Cornell University. She's a community activist, serving on numerous boards. She was named the Vermont Maple Person of the Year in 2014.

"We are delighted Emma Marvin has joined our board," said Katherine Stamper, Laraway's Development Director. "Her entrepreneurial expertise will go far to inform our agency's efforts in a social service realm facing shifting tides."

Laraway Youth & Family Services is a non-profit organization dedicated to identifying and building on the strengths of children and youth with emotional, behavioral and mental health challenges, through alternative education, therapeutic foster care, therapy and public school based behavioral intervention supports.
