Ben Judy joins Laraway Board of Trustees

Ben Judy joined Laraway Youth & Family Services' Board of Trustees. Judy was born a fifth generation Californian in Palo Alto. He studied History in college, earning a degree from Bates. He has devoted much of his career to working for the Vermont Department of Labor.

"Serving on the Laraway Board allows me to support the valued and remarkable work the organization is engaged with," Judy said. "I feel closely aligned with the agency's vision that, 'All children and families belong to nurturing communities.' As a community citizen, I recognize it is incumbent upon all of us to help create nurturing communities."

Judy moved to Vermont in 1994 with his wife, prompted by a career change. He loves living in a place so many people visit for the distinct purpose of relaxing and recreating. He enjoys biking, walking and hiking---right from home.

Laraway Youth & Family Services is a non-profit organization dedicated to identifying and building on the strengths of children and youth with emotional, behavioral and mental health challenges, through alternative education, therapeutic foster care, therapy and public school based behavioral intervention supports.
